BIOGRAPHICAL/HISTORICAL NOTE

Founded in 1916, the California Packing Corporation (CPC or CalPak) is now primarily known by its primary brand, Del Monte. CalPak was formed through the merger of five major United States canners: Griffin & Skelley; Central California Canneries; J.K. Armsby; California Fruit Cannery Association; and the Alaska Packers Association. Through this conglomeration, the California Packing Corporation maintained interests in canned fish from Alaska, pineapple from Hawaii and the Philippines, fruit from California, and vegetables from across the United States. Following the merger, the California Packing Corporation and Del Monte labels were used almost exclusively in marketing CPC products.

In 1917, CalPak made history by placing its first Del Monte advertisement in the Saturday Evening Post. At the time, mass advertising was a relatively new media, and this signaled CalPak's intent to make Del Monte a national label. CalPak also pushed the boundaries of the canned-food market by promoting its canned goods as "rainy day items," shelf-stable staples that could adequately replace fresh produce. CPC was also instrumental in the promotion of canned salmon, publishing recipes booklets to accompany the product and teach consumers how to cook with it.

Despite these advancements, CalPak struggled in the early 1920s, faced with the looming agricultural depression and heavily-mortgaged farmers unable to invest in new operations. In 1925 CPC acquired Rochelle Canneries of Rochelle, Illinois, and with it cornered a significant corn and pea market in the Midwest. This, along with new pineapple plantations being developed in Hawaii and the Philippines helped to ensure stability for the company throughout the rest of the 20th century.

Del Monte is still in operations at the time of writing, although it has steadily decreased in size and scope since the 1980s and is now a subsidiary of RJR Nabisco.

SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

The California Packing Corporation – Del Monte Records collection is arranged into five series: AUDIO-VISUAL MATERIALS, PUBLICITY MATERIALS, PRODUCT INFORMATION, ADMINISTRATIVE RECORDS, and AWARDS AND MEMORABILIA. These comprise 14.25 cubic feet of material, and include extensive photographic prints and negatives, as well as advertisements, administrative records, and memorabilia commemorating the California Packing Corporation (CPC). Much of the material relates to the CPC development of pineapple plantations in the Philippines in the mid-20th century.

The AUDIO-VISUAL MATERIALS SERIES (6.80 cubic feet) is the largest series and consists of photographic prints and albums, photographic negatives, and a small selection of 35mm slides, as well as five reels of film. While some of these materials represent advertisements and other outreach, they have been included in this series based on their visual media. This series contains three subseries: Photographic Prints & Slides, and Photographic Negatives, and Film.

The Photographic Prints & Slides Subseries (2.40 cubic feet) consists primarily of loose snapshots and album pages. Photographs include images of Hawaii and the Philippines, and heavily feature the pineapple plantations established there. Other images include domestic orchards and factories, as well as workers and some large-format staff photographs. Oversized prints feature enlarged images of fisherman and seafood canneries. Most prints and albums arrived without obvious order or titles. Items in this subseries are arranged by date when known, and otherwise by general observed topic or order within the original collection.

The Photographic Negatives Subseries (3.40 cubic feet) is the largest subseries and consists primarily of 8x10 photographic negatives featuring cannery workers, orchards, and domestic trade shows. Negatives were originally titled with a number; descriptive titles have been added during processing based on the image subject. Negatives are arranged by their original numeric title.

The Film Subseries (1.00 cubic feet) consists of 5 reels of 25mm film featuring Del Monte Corporation advertisements, as well as one untitled VHS tape.

The PUBLICITY MATERIALS SERIES (3.30 cubic feet) consists of materials related to the public face of the California Packing and Del Monte Corporations. Materials include an extensive series of periodicals, including the Del Monte Shield and Calpak Annual, as well as advertisements, labels, and newsclippings related to the company. The series is contains two subseries: Periodicals, and Advertisements and Newsclippings.

The Periodicals Subseries (2.20 cubic feet) consists of periodical publications arranged by title and date. Materials include a full run of Calpak Annual from 1917-1952, and both loose and bound editions of Del Monte Shield published monthly from 1948-1960. Other publications include a single issue of SunKist, and several issues of Del Monte Activities from 1920-1940.

The Advertisements Subseries (1.10 cubic feet) includes approximately 200 California Packing Corporation and Del Monte-produced advertisements, as well as several trade cards, newsclippings, and labels for Del Monte and CPC products. Advertisements are arranged according to reference number assigned by the Del Monte Corporation, and typically include a descriptive title added during processing.

The PRODUCT INFORMATION SERIES (.75 cubic feet) is the smallest series, and consists of trade catalogs and recipe booklets featuring California Packing Corporation and Del Monte foods. Recipe booklets include two booklets on cooking with canned salmon, a relatively new product in the early 20th century. These books represent concerted effort by the companies to introduce canned salmon into American life. The included trade catalogs prominently feature agricultural equipment in use by CPC and Del Monte.

The ADMINISTRATIVE RECORDS SERIES (2.60 cubic feet) consists of materials related to the administration of the California Packing Corporation, Del Monte Corporation, and associated subsidiary brands, as well as retrospective materials collected to support a CPC/Del Monte exhibit hosted in the 1990s. This series is divided into two subseries: General Administrative Records and Retrospective & Exhibit Materials.

The General Administrative Records Subseries (2.25 cubic feet) makes up the majority of the series and consists of all general administrative materials, including reports (.20 cubic feet) and extensive blueprints of plantations developed in the Philippines (.50 cubic feet). Reports include product development plans, shipping rate comparisons, and descriptions of early trips to the Philippines. Blueprints primarily detail the establishment of the Philippine Packing Corporation headquarters and plantation in Bugo, near Mindanao. Materials are generally arranged by material type and date. Blueprints are arranged by facility name.

The Retrospective & Exhibit Materials Subseries (.35 cubic feet) is the only part of the collection that has been maintained in original order and with original folder titles. These materials were assembled in the 1980s by Del Monte Corporation regarding an historical exhibit about the company, and include artifact lists, interviews, and other administrative data.

The AWARDS AND MEMORABILIA SERIES (.80 cubic feet) is comprised of awards and three-dimensional ephemera associated with the California Packing Corporation. This series includes framed certificates, plaques, and prize ribbons, as well as a decorative catsup bottle.

ARRANGEMENT

Generally, the collection is arranged by material type. Materials were received in no particular order, after having changed custody several times before arriving at The Henry Ford. All labelled folders and albums have been retained in their original state, including photographic negatives and advertising proofs. In some cases, especially in the case of materials curated for exhibit by the donor, original order and folder headings have been retained.

Original film, including VHS tapes have been separated and are housed in cold storage. Three dimensional objects are stored separately.
